WHEREAS, the Overall Economic Development Program (OEDP) of the White Mountain Apache Tribe has been established and updated annually in accordance with guidelines established by the Economic Development Administration to assist Tribal economic development; and

WHEREAS, a review of development needs and planned projects indicates that the overall strategy for economic development retains past prioritizations with important new considerations, as follows:

- 1) the protection of reservation natural resources - - water, timber, and the land base itself; particularly with regard to the critical economic value of water and the rights protecting it;
- 2) controlled development of these resources including:
  - a) expansion as feasible of the recreation industry on-reservation because of the excellent market potential;
  - b) diversification of FATCO as feasible, including salvage/refurbishment, byproducts, and remanufacturing processes;
  - c) improvements and development within the agricultural industry, including an upgrading program for the Tribal Herd, coordinated with the Tribal Herd Finishing Project, as well as continued coordination with the Tribal Farm and a crops diversification program and investigation of alternative animal husbandries for the Tribal Farm; and
  - d) strategic industrial projects as feasible, where these effectively link with existing tribal industries;
- 3) continuing emphasis on securing stable profitability and employment from existing tribal enterprises through effective management and workable plans of operation and strategic policies such as those directed at decreasing business leakage off-reservation;
- 4) careful analysis of ways and means by which near-term and long-term developmental financing may be structured and obtained for tribal economic development, housing, and governmental services, without detrimental effects to tribal credibility or sovereignty;
- 5) continuing development of tribal human resources by carefully chosen education/training and related marketing efforts to mobilize employment and cash income opportunities for introduction into the tribal economy;
- 6) the provision of basic community infrastructure necessary to the quality of life on the reservation, with specific attention to the important human and developmental problems associated with such infrastructure in the community of McNary; and

- 7) the balancing of economic growth throughout the reservation to such communities as McNary, Cedar Creek, and Cibacue through feasible, cost-effective business opportunities such as cottage industries, seeking stable long-term employment opportunities without subsidy dependence.

WHEREAS, those projects affecting Tribal water usage (the use and storage of water for agriculture, tourism-recreation, production of hydroelectricity, forest products industrial applications, and other Tribal developmental utilizations) will continue to receive the highest priority in the Program Projection for fiscal year 1985-86; a copy of said update attached to this resolution and made a part hereof by reference; and

WHEREAS, the list of project priorities approved in conjunction with this update has been modified to reflect current requirements for fiscal year 1985-86; said revised project list included as a part of the OEDP Program Projection for FY1985-86; and

WHEREAS, the Annual OEDP Report and Program Projection, FY1985-86, is to be submitted to the Economic Development Administration as Addendum No. 7 to the Overall Economic Development Program, FY1978;
